Reception following

... I am the rose of Sharon, and the lily of the valleys ...

I am black, but comely, O ye daughters of Jerusalem, as the tents of Kedar, as the curtains of Solomon ...

Many waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it ...

the Song of Songs

Chorus Angelorum will host its sixth biennial choral workshop, "King Solomon's Songs" July 13 - 17, 2011, at Our Lady of Walsingham Catholic Church-Anglican Use, Houston, Texas. The conference will be led by David Trendell, noted Renaissance musical scholar and College Organist and Lecturer in Music at King's College, London, and with workshop accompanist, celebrated organist Simon Nieminski, Organist of St Mary's Metropolitan Cathedral (Catholic) in Edinburgh, Scotland. Mr. Trendell will bring a professional vocal quartet from London to act as Section Leaders within the Workshop Chorus. Musical selections will include settings of Nigra sum sed Formosa by Lheritier, Victoria and Palestrina; Ego flos campi by Clemens non Papa; Vox patris by Mundy and other selected compositions by Vivanco and Guerrero based on texts from the Song of Solomon.

David Trendell

Simon Nieminski

The Choral Workshop consists of daily rehearsals with David Trendell and the professional section leaders as well as accompaniment by Simon Nieminski. Participants will sing a Choral Evensong Service on Sunday, July 17, followed by a concert at Our Lady of Walsingham at 7809 Shadyvilla Lane, near the intersection of Westview and Wirt, just north of I-10, Katy Freeway.

David Trendell received his early training as a chorister at Norwich Cathedral and as Organ Scholar at Exeter College, Oxford. He is well-known as a choral conductor, having been Director of Music at the University Church, Oxford before joining the faculty at King's College, London. Under his direction, the choir at King's has made several recordings and regularly broadcasts for the BBC. His current historical research focuses on sixteenth-century music. He also serves as Director of Music at St Mary's Bourne Street.
